Several construction workers wearing blue hard hats and dark jackets are standing on a metal scaffolding platform. One worker in an orange jacket is leaning over the edge of the scaffolding. They appear to be engaged in a discussion or inspection of the work.

Stacks of construction materials, including bags of cement and boxes of bricks, are visible on the ground level. A yellow crane is positioned near the center of the site.

A modern multi-story building with balconies is visible in the background. The balconies have glass railings and some have plants. A yellow dumpster is also visible near the building.
